Full Time Midwife Position.

The midwives at Abbotsford Midwifery are seeking a Registered Midwife to join our team with a start date of August 2019.

We are currently a group of two full time midwives in a busy well-established practice in Abbotsford, serving families in Abbotsford, Mission, Chilliwack and Aldergrove. We mostly work out of Abbotsford Regional Hospital but also have privileges at Chilliwack Hospital. Abbotsford Hospital is a beautiful new facility with single private rooms some of which have bath tubs. (no water births allowed yet but this is a work in progress)!

Our practice was established in 2007. We enjoy many repeat multip clients with a homebirth rate of approximately 20% and often times have a wait list. We enjoy healthy collaborative working relationships with other midwives and doctors in our community.

We are currently flexible in our model of care. Options would be shared care between 3 midwives, or a group of 2 shared care with a solo midwife with support and adequate time off. We are hoping to expand to two teams of two and add a registered massage therapist. We have full time office support, electronic charting and billing through OSCAR.

Our lovely clinic space is actually a house located only one block from Abbotsford Hospital. Check out a tour of our space on our website at abbotsfordmidwiferygroup.ca.

The Fraser Valley is a beautiful location known as the farm in the city. Parts feel very rural lots of farms fresh produce, great hiking trails, lakes yet with all the conveniences of the city. We have a vibrant down town center with a farmers market, craft breweries, cafes, and some pretty cool little shops. We are one hour east of Vancouver and three hours West of the central interior of BC. The cost of living is still affordable!

If you are interested in joining our team and would love to live in the Fraser Valley please email me at barbersall@hotmail.com. Please note the applicant requires privileges at Fraser Health and I believe the deadline to apply is March 31st! I can share the contact to apply to interested applicants.

Looking forward to hearing from you!
