Recruiting interested long-term RMs (x2) to work at a newly established practice in Fort St. John, northeast BC. The practice is in its developing phase pending successful recruitment of two midwives and will be a second location for Bloom Pregnancy and Wellness Clinic.

It is an absolutely fantastic opportunity and preference will be given to candidates with rural experience, although I would be open to any ambitiously driven game-changer.

Our 2-RM clinic in Dawson Creek is a stone through away (45 min drive) and currently the only RM clinic for northeast BC. We have filled a giant void in pregnancy care, providing care to about a quarter of the pregnant population in Dawson Creek.

In Fort St John, women have only one choice for prenatal care - the prenatal clinic houses 8 physicians who share-care to be able to manage caseload of 650 births per year. Women are yearning for a more patient-centered, smaller model of care. In short, there is one OBGYN in FSJ, one pediatrician but no NICU and allows births from 36 weeks.

The Birth Center and Fort St John Hospital is a beautiful new building and the maternity staff seem welcoming to the idea of having midwives.
