

Hello Midwives,

Bloom midwives are looking for another midwife to join our growing practice. A one-year position, with a strong possibility of extension, is available from as early as May 2021. The midwife will work on a team of four with a full caseload. We have a wonderful schedule that accommodates holidays and flexibility.

Bloom Community Midwives is a well-established practice located in the vibrant West End of Vancouver. We have full time MOA support and use Oscar EMR. We work at both St Paul's Hospital (SPH) and BC Women's Hospital (BCWH). SPH offers a level 4 maternity centre with a level 2A Neonatal Intensive Care Unit (NICU). BCWH is a level 4 maternity centre with a level 4 NICU. Bloom has excellent working relations and support from our nursing and physician colleagues at both sites. A paediatrician also works collaboratively from Bloom which facilitates quick referrals for Bloom's little humans. We have a lovely clientele including many new immigrants to Canada and have a client waitlist most months.

Privileges would be a huge advantage to an applicant's success although we are interested in hearing from all who are interested, including New Registrants.

Please contact us ASAP if you are interested.

Many thanks,

Zoë Hodgson RM PhD and Kelsey Martin RM BA & BSc
