

The Midwifery Group is seeking a Registered Midwife for a full-time position
Ideal start date: May 1st 2021 (*flexible)

Our Clinic:

The Midwifery Group is a busy and supportive midwifery practice located in a beautiful store-front location on Main Street in Vancouver, British Columbia. Established in 1998, we have a strong presence in our community and relish the diversity of our clientele. We believe in supportive and sustainable arrangements of sharing call and are keen to experiment with models of midwifery care that support our individual midwives to have rewarding careers, and maintain a healthy work-life balance. We enjoy our work and we enjoy each other's company.

Midwives on the team have hospital privileges at BC Women's Hospital and have approximately a 20% home birth rate. We offer full-time administrative support and use an electronic medical record (Oscar) to provide safe and coordinated client care in a team-based midwifery model. Our clinic currently operates with two teams of midwives that support each other, hold regular clinic meetings and social team building events (over video conference if we have to ;)

The Position:

We are seeking a Registered Midwife to join Team 1 and would also consider a new graduate of an accredited midwifery program. The candidate would be joining a team of 3 enthusiastic, hard-working and supportive (and fun!) midwives in a full-time clinical practice. We like to work a schedule that supports work-life balance.

The applicant would either already hold hospital privileges at BC Women's Hospital or alternatively we can provide the signatures required for temporary hospital privileges approved through the CAP (Caseload Assistance Program) at BC Women's Hospital Department of Midwifery. (We are a team with the approval an Alternative Practice Agreement with the CMBC and the option to practice under that model, should we choose to expand).

*There is some flexibility to the start date above. If you are not immediately available in the above timeframe we will still consider your application for a later date.

The successful candidate will be:

- Eligible for registration by the start date or already registered with the College of Midwives of BC and the Midwives Association of BC (this is negotiable if the new team member is a new graduate).
- A strong communicator with experience working in a team-based environment
- Committed to providing exemplary midwifery care
- Experienced in providing care to diverse families
- Highly responsible
- Experience working with electronic medical records (such as OSCAR) is an asset but not required.

Come join our wonderful group of midwives at The Midwifery Group in an amazing group practice!

Please submit your CV, three references, estimated available start date and a letter of introduction as soon as possible. * At this time there will be no deadline for submissions.
