

Hello Midwives,

Bloom midwives are looking for midwives to join our practice. A one-year position, with a strong possibility of extension, is available from as early as May 2021, with flexibility in start date. We have enough caseload to support two additional midwives who would work on a team of two to three midwives. There can be flexibility in team size depending on interest and applicants' preferences.

Bloom Community Midwives is a well-established practice located in the vibrant West End of Vancouver, BC. We have full time MOA support and use Oscar EMR. This team member will focus on births at BC Women's Hospital <http://www.bcwomens.ca/> where we have excellent working relations and support from our nursing and physician colleagues. A paediatrician also works collaboratively from Bloom's clinic space which facilitates quick referrals for Bloom's little humans. We have a lovely clientele including many new immigrants to Canada and have a client waitlist most months.

At least one year of experience would be a huge advantage to an applicant's success although we are interested in hearing from all who are interested. Locum privileges are available.

Please contact us ASAP if you are interested.

Many thanks,

Bloom Community Midwives
